The reports of Washington.

The reports of Erig. Gen. Casey, chief of engineers, and Maj. Davis follow:
Gen. Casey, in his report, briefly recapitulates the views expressed by Maj. Davis and in-orses them.

Major Davis' report says:
"The provisions of the bill relating to the location of the proposed bridge are found in section 1, lines 11 to 18 inclusive, and are as folnue extended to afford direct and convenient communication with the National cemetery at Arington. A resolution of the Senate of May 24, 1886, called for a report upon a government bridge, with a suitable draw, at this locality, and a report was submitted by Lieut. Col. P. C. Hains, corps of engineers, U. S. A., proposing an iron truss bridge with fours spans of about 300 feet each, one of which was to be a draw span. February 20, 1890, the Senate called for a report upon the most suitable kind of a bridge at the foot of New York avenue, 'so as to connect the public grounds on both sides of the Potomac river, " * and not interfere with the navigation of said river,' and in compliance therewith the same officer submitted a report with plans of a suspension bridge with a clear height above the river at midchannel of 105 feet.
